

Vendor Notebook - Orion Health joins Alliance for Clinical Excellence

March 06, 2009 | Eric Wicklund, Managing Editor

Orion Health has joined The Alliance for Clinical Excellence (ACE), a global industry alliance launched at the regional HIMSS Healthcare IT Conference in Kuala Lumpur designed to address the global demand for predictive, evidence-based metrics to determine the cost-benefit equation that helps evaluate the deployment of IT systems.

GE Healthcare has released its suite of Centricity solutions for hospitals and outpatient imaging centers, including the Centricity PACS Web Diagnostic (WebDX) viewer, in Asia. In addition, the company has announced that the Virtua Medical Group, a division of Virtua Health of Marton, N.J., has expanded its relationship with the company to include GE Centricity Business Advantage to host core revenue cycle management functions for their employed physician practices. Also, Springfield, Mo.-based CoxHealth has implemented the complete medical Quality Improvement Consortium (MDIQ) quality data system.
